If Joint Owners are Minor Children, list their Names and Ages Here (Signatures of Minor Children are not required to proceed with Home Banking if the Primary Member is an Adult)

NOTE: By signing up for Home Banking you automatically are able to transfer between any and all suffixes under that account number (savings, checking, loans). Many of our members have multiple account numbers with joint members that they would like to transfer funds between via Home Banking. If you have more than one member account number (joint), the credit union staff must set up that account to be viewed online and to allow transfers. You must complete a separate Cross Account Transfer Authorization Form to allow that to happen. For example, if you have an individual account with savings and checking and a family member account with savings and checking, you need to set up the cross account transfer for each separate account number.

If this account is jointly held, all signatures of adults are required on this form. There is only one password per account and it must be shared by all owners to use the Home Banking service to view and transact on the account shown above. Everyone on the account is responsible for safeguarding the password and account access.
